

Rocky shores

We've been sitting at this corner table
So long the waiter just gave up
Trading our stories both the proud and shameful
I think we know that we both have a little crush
Oh oh oh, you've got to know

I don't want to be the one to miss you
I don't want to open up that door
Not even take a chance and kiss you
I know better than to trust that any more

Go...you're hearing the sirens
Go...go...cover your eyes and just
Go...go...or you're going to risk your whole damn ship
Crashing on the rocky shores

I know you're talking that you'd never leave her
While in your pocket goes your wedding ring
We're always thinking that the grass is greener
I can promise it just looks that way in the spring

Go...you're hearing the sirens
Go...go...cover your eyes and just
Go...go...or you're going to risk your whole damn ship
Crashing on the rocky shores
On the rocky shores

It's a special kind of full moon crazy
Makes somebody throw it all away
You start at "never" and you move to "maybe"
Before you know it you'll be thinking you just can't wait

Oh...once you heard the sirens
Go...go...cover your eyes and just
Go...go...or you're going to find your whole damn life
Crashing on the rocky shores
Oh...on the rocky shores
